

In the mink

The Don, by Starchild, one of the exhibiting artists

GLAMOUR, aspiration, vanity, envy and greed are among the subjects of a group art exhibition about wealth and the things we desire.

Mink Schmink at the Wilson Williams gallery in Queensdown Road, Lower Clapton, is named after the late Eartha Kitt's song which considers material luxury and then asks "what have you got if you haven't got love?"

The show features work by 11 artists, ranging from sculpture and printing, to painting and performance, dealing with what people consider valuable, and seeks to question the worth of wealth and material objects.

Mink Schmink is open on Saturdays and Sundays between 12noon and 6pm and by appointment until February 15. The gallery is also open until 9pm on Thursday, February 5.

To contact the gallery, call 075313 42128, email wwgallery@gmail.com, or visit the wilsonwilliams-gallery.com website.